

SOC Speaker's Credentials:

John Andrews: Director of the Centennial Institute and former President of the Colorado Senate.

Tony Fabian: Tony Fabian is a Colorado native, raised in the mountain town of Leadville at an altitude of nearly two miles above sea level. A 1987 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland and a Navy veteran, he served as a division officer aboard the battleship USS Iowa (BB-61), as aide and flag lieutenant to Rear Admiral Byron E. Tobin, Jr., commander of the world's largest naval base in Norfolk, VA, and on the staff of Commander, Naval Forces Korea before his Honorable Discharge in 2000. He earned his Juris Doctor degree from the University of Denver College of Law in 1996 and served as a prosecutor in the Eighteenth Colorado Judicial District for nearly five years, where he prosecuted traffic, misdemeanor, juvenile and felony cases in Arapahoe, Douglas and Elbert counties. After working as an associate for the private civil law firms of Halaby Cross & Schluter and Cross & Liechty, P.C., where he defended local governments and their employees, along with policyholders of State Farm Insurance, in civil litigation, Tony has operated his own law practice in Castle Rock for the past several years, emphasizing criminal defense and other personal litigation. In addition to serving as an instructor and mentor in the University of Denver College of Law Lawyering Process course for the past several years, Tony has been an instructor for the Community College of Aurora Police Academy since 1998, teaching courses in Search and Seizure law, Rules of Evidence, and Courtroom Testimony. He teaches similar courses, in addition to lawful use of force, for the Aurora City Marshal continuing training program. He also regularly conducts private courses on Colorado firearms law and the law pertaining to the use of force.

Sean Doherty: Sean is the Founder and Publisher of The Constitutional Reporter, a newspaper distributed both online and in hard copy to the Auraria Campus and to various political clubs in the Metro Denver area. Before starting this newspaper, Sean worked as the campaign manager for the George Lilly campaign for Congress in Colorado's First Congressional District. In 2008, Sean attended the Republican National Convention as a delegate from Jefferson County, Colorado. Sean has received activism training from the Leadership Institute and the National Chapter of College Republicans. Prior to becoming an active voice in the cause of freedom and liberty, Sean competed nationally as a mixed martial arts fighter and co-owns a gym in Broomfield, Colorado.

Jimmy Sengenberger: Jimmy is a sophomore at Regis University and a longtime political activist, beginning his involvement at age 13. He has volunteered for several campaigns since 2004 and is presently Chair of the Regis College Republicans. In addition, he is the Regional Director for the Denver-Metro Region of College Republicans and hosts a weekly two-hour radio talk show on Regis University's KRCX radio station, blogging and podcasting online at SengCenter.com. Jimmy is a frequent contributor to several newspapers and blogsites, including Regis's Highlander newspaper, The Villager suburban weekly, John Andrews' BackboneAmerica.net, PeoplesPressCollective.org, and others. He has previously appeared on several radio shows, including Caplis and Silverman, the Mike Rosen Show, and Backbone America.

Pastor Gino Geraci: Gino Geraci is the founding Pastor of Calvary South Denver. Gino accepted the Lord Jesus Christ as his Lord and Savior March 3, 1973 at Calvary Chapel Coasta Mesa. Gino grew in his relationship with the Lord during the “Jesus Movement” and has been closely linked to Calvary Chapel ministries, Chuck Smith and Skip Heitzig. He met and married his wife Mary in the Inland Empire of San Bernardino County. The Geraci family have three sons; Miguel, Anthony, and Jonathan.

Gino received his undergraduate degree (B.S.) from the University of San Francisco. He spent seven years employed with the Department of Social Services of San Bernardino County. Gino received his P.O.S.T. certification through Rio Hondo Academy. Gino has served as a police chaplain for Chino Police Department; Denver Police Department and currently serves as a Police Chaplain for the Arapahoe County Sheriff’s Department, and the Denver office of the FBI.

Gino began his radio career at a small station in the desert community of Apple Valley California. He has since appeared on scores of national and local radio programs as a guest; television appearances with Lee Stroebel’s Faith Under Fire; local T.V. affiliates (NBC; CBS; ABC and FOX) and currently hosts daily radio program with Salem Media in the front range area of Denver Colorado; KRKS F.M. 94.7; 4:00PM-6:00PM. Gino has provided emergency service support in many national tragedies. He was a first responder at Columbine High School, Ground Zero in New York, and Platte Canyon High School.

Gino is a much sought after conference speaker. He has conducted leadership conferences, Bible Conferences, and emergency service support conferences with the Billy Gram Evangelistic Association, Samaritans’ Purse, Gospel for Asia in India, and Sri Lanka, the Bible League in Africa; Food For The Poor in Jamaica; Mike McIntosh Crusades in Mexico; Somebody Loves You Bible Conferences with Raul Ries in Chile, Columbia, Peru and Pastor’s conferences in much of the continental United States.

Gino is currently the Pastor of Calvary South Denver where he continues to minister, preach, teach, and serve.

Dan Corsentino: Current Chief of Police, former Elected Sheriff, and expert on Homeland Security, the Constitution, and Citizen's Second Amendment Rights.

Mike Holler: Author, public speaker, and Constitutional expert.

Lenina Close: Lenina’s experience is quite varied, but her strength lies in this diversity.

From growing up in an Amish town in Northern Indiana, to joining the army when she was 17, from working in a federal prison right out of college, and singing in a band when her children were small, her experience lends itself to a broad life view that values freedom and individual liberty.

Lenina teaches college level Criminal Justice courses to include Constitutional Law, Criminology and Corrections. She has given motivational seminars, spoken to leadership groups, and has recently been part of the “tea party” movement, speaking to several thousand people at the Colorado state capitol and at other rally type events throughout the state of Colorado.

Some of her greatest challenges and significant joys have come from raising her two sons who are now teenagers. Instilling the fundamental values of liberty and helping them understand the privilege of freedom that we enjoy in this nation is a top priority in her life.

She’s worked on numerous political campaigns and is passionate about leadership. She believes that one of the greatest gifts we can give ourselves and others, are the tools to live productive, purpose-filled, independent lives and the confidence to overcome adversity.

Known amongst the blogging community as the “Right Witch,” Lenina is involved with the Gadsden Society, Liberty on the Rocks, the People’s Press Collective and the Leadership Program of the Rockies.